

Tillamook Health Issues Push Tillamook PUD Board Member To Resign

July 21, 2008- Tillamook People's Utility District (PUD) regretfully announces that health issues have caused Frank Brawner to resign from its Board of Directors, effective immediately. Frank held the position of Vice-President of the Board and has served the District, representing Subdivision No.1, South Tillamook County, since 2004.

Frank began an illustrious career in the banking industry in 1955, serving as a marketing and human resources officer. He was employed by the Oregon Banker's Association from 1975 through 1998 and is highly accomplished in the public service sector. He has become an active participant in the public power industry upon joining the Tillamook PUD board of directors. Frank has always made a positive impact to the communities in which he's lived and was recently named Citizen of the Year by the Pacific City – Nestucca Valley Chamber of Commerce.

Frank and wife, Joane, are residents of Neskowin and are the parents of four children and grandparents to eleven.
